Expulsado en 1983 de Bolivia, donde se había refugiado, "El carnicero de Lyon", como era apodado Barbie, murió en la cárcel el 25 de setiembre de 1991.

- Mayo de 1992: El ex asistente nazi Josef Schwammberger, de 80 años, detenido en 1988 en Argentina, fue condenado a prisión perpetua en la ciudad de Stuttgart (Alemania) por la muerte de siete judíos y por complicidad de homicidio en 32 oportunidades.
- Julio de 1993: John Demjanjuk fue sobreseído por "beneficio de duda" por la Corte Suprema de Israel de la acusación de haber sido un antiguo verdugo del campo de exterminio de Treblinka.

Extraditado de los Estados Unidos a Israel en 1986, había sido condenado por los tribunales inferiores a la horca en 1988, luego de que se lo identificara como "Iván el Terrible" verdugo ucraniano del campo de concentración polaco.

"Arrastrado por el torbellino histórico"

ROMA, 22 (AFP).- El ex mayor de las SS Karl Hass, de 84 años, que salió en libertad después de que el tribunal militar de Roma le conmutara la pena a 10 años de cárcel a la que acababa de condenarlo hoy, se define a sí mismo como un hombre ordinario arrastrado por el torbellino de la historia.

El anciano ex oficial nazi, que renegó haber asesinado personalmente a dos de las 335 víctimas disparándoles con una pistola en la nuca en la entrada de las Fosas Ardeatinas, nunca fue perseguido por la Justicia hasta el día en que una corte militar lo citó por "homicidio premeditado, con crueldad y reiterado", el 14 de abril último.

Vienna. All of them are in constant fear of the Gestapo. Often whole families are called from their beds, given only some minutes to dress, and brought to places where many fellow sufferers are waiting. All of them are loaded into cattle-trucks and brought to Polish concentration camps.

The victories of Hitler have not been able to strengthen the morale of the hinterland. In Vienna, there exist a few Nazi fanatics who believe in the final victory. of Germany. The broad masses of the population are waiting, fists clenched, for the day of reckoning.

A very good example of that fact was the capture of Paris. Nobody in Vienna wanted to believe that Paris had fallen. It was only when soldiers returned from Paris, and people who had listened to the radio of foreign countries told of it, that anyone did believe it. The threat of the death penalty is not strong enough to hinder thousands of persons from listening to foreign radios, even to the English. Hitler's speeches are valued on a par with the newspapers as far as the public is concerned. A regular campaign against America began over the Vienna radio in the middle of February. There was, for instance, a lecture on "America and Her People," by a certain Dr. Salders. He stated that he had been a professor at an American university from 1927 to 1930 and, therefore, was well acquainted with American mentality. Enumerating the names of many German-Americans of good reputation, he contended that everything that is good in America has been created by the Germans. At the present time, however, he said the Jews have everything in their hands. Eventually, he pro-

Leading positions in all the central offices, factories and economic centres, and even in the department "Ostmark" of the Reichsbank, are held by Germans of the Reich. The Austrian industrialists are no longer masters of their factories. Everyone has a German commissary co-ordinator who, so to speak, is his superior. Industrialists who formerly belonged to the illegal Nazi party, to-day are great opponents of Hitler. The Austrian industrialist is nothing but an employe of his own factory. The mistrust against him is even greater than that against the German industrialist. Leading men of high rank in Austrian public institutions have been transferred to Berlin, where they fill the places of inferior officials. The heads of municipal administrations are Germans. The former Nazi Mayor of Vienna, Dr. Herman Neubacher, has been sent to Rumania to study the problems of reconstruction as an expert in that line.

mezapark area of Riga. In summer 1943 Himmler ordered to eliminate all camps in the east, exterminate all inmates who were unable to work, and take the rest to another concentration camp. In summer 1943 prisoners from Polish concentration camps started building the camps. The 'Riga-Kaiserwald' had 29 'Aussenlager' (subcamps); The sorting out took place in the central camp. The male inmates who were able to work were sent to clear fields from mines. In August and September 1944, when the Soviet armies advanced to the Baltic countries, some inmates were sent to the Stutthof camp near Gdansk, and about 400 inmates were sent to Auschwitz. The rest were executed on 2nd October 1944 during elimination of the camp. From Stutthof the inmates were taken to various camps. The ally armies rescued them from extermination. At the most 1,000 Latvian Jews taken to Germany lived till liberation. The total of 18,000 Jews were exterminated in Kaiserwald during the Great Patriotic War.

of people endeavouring into a postmodern facet of Special Interest Tourism, referred to as Dark Tourism, which provides unique experiences that generates great interest among experiential travellers. In summary, Dark Tourism is predicated on tourism motivated by an interest in death, disaster and atrocity.

As this subset of Special Interest Tourism has been progressively growing, more and more destinations have developed visitor attractions out of these past atrocities.

This is exemplified globally through major international Dark Tourism sites such as Ground Zero in New York City, Auschwitz Concentration Camps in Poland, which have seen millions of visitors; and other popular sites like the Chernobyl disaster site in Ukraine, and Aokigahara Suicide Forest in Japan.

Britanski historičar Dejvid Irving, koji je svojevremeno služio zatvorsku kaznu zbog negiranja holokausta, izjavio je da predvodi turneju po bivšim nacističkim logorima smrti u Poljskoj jer ljudi žele da čuju njegov stav

Irving je izjavio za AP u četvrtak kako ne negira da su nacisti ubili milione Jevreja ali da se ne boji da postavi "teška pitanja" o holokaustu. On je ranije tvrdio da su mnogi umrli od bolesti i da nisu ubijeni u egzekucijama.

Njegova grupa, u kojoj su Britanci, Amerikanci i Nijemci, obišla je Treblinku i planira posjetiti tri ostala bivša logora smrti prije nego što krene kući 30. septembra. On nije rekao koliko je ljudi u njegovoj grupi niti koliko su plaćeni.

Uma profissional e diversos olhares sobre o cinema do Brasil (Parte 1)

Entrevista com Flávia Guerra

Muito solícita desde os primeiros contatos por telefone, Flávia seria a primeira mulher que entrevistáramos. Primeira e provavelmente única, tendo em vista a escassez destas no campo da crítica de cinema no Brasil. Não sabíamos o que esperar. Chegamos ao Estadão. Nomes e RG na portaria. Portas e mais portas. Um longo caminho até o elevador que dava acesso a uma enorme redação. Lá no fundo, havia uma moça morena, bem moça por sinal, ao telefone. Depois de andarmos por entre as várias editorias, fomos conduzidas por ela a uma sala. Na primeira pergunta já sentíamos que seria uma entrevista das boas.

Flávia Guerra se formou em Jornalismo pela Escola de Comunicações e Artes Universidade de São Paulo (ECA-USP), em 2000. Começou a escrever sobre cultura um ano antes, no Estado de S. Paulo. A trajetória da jornalista inclui o trabalho com finalização e lançamento de filmes brasileiros no exterior. Além de cobrir cinema, moda e música e fazer críticas para o Estado de S. Paulo, é repórter da Rádio Eldorado. Este ano participou do documentário Marcha Pela Vida, uma co-produção entre Polônia e Estados Unidos, que conta a história de uma peregrinação que judeus de vários países do mundo fazem todos os anos de Varsóvia para campos de concentração da Polônia e depois para Israel. Flávia acabou de viajar para a Inglaterra, vai estudar direção de documentários na Universidade de Londres, durante um ano.

Германия издаде заповед за арест на бившия нацист Иван Демянюк

11:03 | 11 март 2009 | 2 коментара

Властите в Германия издадоха заповед за арест на Джон (Иван) Демянюк с прозвището Иван Грозни, съобщи Франс прес в сряда. Роденият в Украйна Демянюк по време на Втората световна война е бил надзирател в германски концентрационен лагер. Той е заподозрян в съучастие в избиването на хиляди евреи.

Според централното ведомство на Германия по разследване на нацистките престъпления 88-годишният Демянюк е бил пазач в нацисткия концлагер "Собибор" в Полша. Германските власти разполагали с неопровержими доказателства, че Иван Грозни (прозвището той получил заради изключителната си жестокост) е участвал в избиването на затворени в "Собибор" евреи.

След войната Демянюк емигрира в САЩ, където сменя малкото си име на Джон. През 1986 г. е екстрадиран в Израел. Там е осъден на доживотен затвор за съучастие в избиването на евреи в концлагера "Треблінка" в Полша, но през 1993 г. Върховният съд на Израел отменя присъдата му заради недостатъчно доказателства.

Canada - Gazette, The - 1940-12-09 - Polish concentration camps

In June there were 300 executions in Warsaw alone; in August the number was even greater; in September among 100 executed were twenty women. These figures comprise only those killed after quasi-legal proceedings. They do not take into account the deaths from torture by the Gestapo, the victims of the prisons and concentration camps who number hundreds if not thousands more. Thousands have died of cold and starvation. The horrors of the Polish concentration camps have greatly exceeded any told of Dachau and Oranienburg.

Transportados en carros de ganado y recibidos en un complejo en que las condiciones de vida era críticas, en donde quienes tenían la mala suerte de llegar ahí eran recibidos con la frase "El trabajo los hará libres" en el portón.

Esa es una ínfima parte del horror que vivieron millones de prisioneros del régimen nazi. Familias que fueron separadas de sí y sometidas a inhumanas exigencias, las cuales, en la mayoría de los casos terminaban con muertes trágicas, ejecutadas de manera aún inimaginables.

Lily Vogelmann, relata parte del tortuoso periodo que vivió en un campo de concentración polaco: "Se nos obligaba a sacarnos las medias y los calzones, después el sostén. Ahí quedábamos piluchas todas, y entonces teníamos que acercarnos a los hombres que estaban sentados. Y nos hicieron cortarnos todo el vello que teníamos y raparnos la cabeza. Yo creí que me iba a morir, quise que la tierra me tragara. Era un shock terrible cuando me tocaron y me sacaron con esta máquina los vellos".

Colombia - Noticias RcN - 2016-05-01 - complejos de Auschwitz en Polonia

Otto fue trasladado a uno de los complejos de Auschwitz en Polonia, el campo de concentración más brutal del régimen nazi. Cerca de 1.1 millones de personas fueron asesinadas en ese lugar, 960.000 de las cuales eran judías.

Su esposa e hijas también fueron llevadas a uno de estos complejos, donde la madre moriría en la enfermería negándose a probar bocado después de ser separada de las jóvenes. Margot y Ana, por su parte, serían remitidas al campo Bergen-Belsen al norte de Alemania.

La sobrepoblación, sumada a las precarias condiciones de salubridad y la escasez de alimentos, desató un brote de enfermedades que causó la muerte fulminante de miles de prisioneros. La vida de Margot y Ana se apagaría luego de haberse contagiado de tifus siete meses después de su reclusión en condiciones inhumanas.

Desconociendo la suerte de los suyos, Otto Frank logró sobrevivir al campo de exterminio que fue liberado por el ejército soviético el 27 de enero de 1945.

Pieter Webeling: Latteren og døden

Skrevet af Katja Meier Marcussen den 13. januar 2016 – 08:30 Ingen kommentarer

Kombination af komik og 2. verdenskrig lyder absurd. Men det virker. Jeg læste bogen meget hurtigere end forventet. På trods af minutter, hvor jeg indimellem måtte lukke bogen og trække vejret dybt. Det er en barsk bog. Hvorvidt alle detaljer er korrekte, vides ikke, men krigen er jo virkelighed. Denne bog får en til igen at tænke på historierne om koncentrationslejre, tortur, mennesker transporteret som kvæg og forløsningen, da tyskerne endelig taber kampen.

Ernst Hofmans far var tysker, forfatter og kæmpede i 1. verdenskrig. Moderen var jøde og skuespiller og døde, da Ernst var teenager. Få år efter begik faderen selvmord.

I en togvogn fyldt med børn, voksne og ældre mennesker møder Ernst den smukke Helena, der taler med ham og synger for ham. Deres kendskab til hinanden begrænser sig til få timer, men da de bliver sendt i hver sin retning i en polsk koncentrationslejr, mærker Ernst, at hans hjerte brister. Han vil se hende igen. I live.

4. Juli - Der ehemalige SS-Untersturmführer Klaus Barbie, auch als "Schlächter von Lyon" bezeichnet, wurde wegen Verbrechen gegen die Menschlichkeit zu lebenslanger Haft verurteilt. Er veranlasste die Deportation von tausenden Juden in polnische Konzentrationslager und liess Résistance-Mitglieder foltern und ermorden. Zwischen 1944 und 1947 tauchte er unter. Von 1947 bis 1951 arbeitete er als amerikanischer Agent in Deutschland und wanderte dann mit amerikanischer Hilfe nach Bolivien aus. Dort war er zunächst als Geschäftsmann und ab 1964 als Berater der Militärregierung tätig. 1983 wurde er an Frankreich ausgeliefert. 1991 verstarb er in Haft.

For these reasons our tour around Drama will start off from the archaeological museum which lies close to the Public Park, an area full of greenery and running water, since the archaeological museum is also a city museum. There, the visitor can find information on the history of Drama from prehistoric times up to the period of Turkish occupation and the inter-war years all gathered in one place, and this information gives one a first glimpse into the long tradition of inhabitation and the variety of culture in the prefecture.

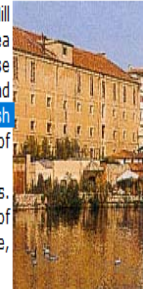

Our tour continues through the Ayia Barbara park which covers approximately 60,000 m2 and which throughout time has been an identifying feature of the city and a pole of attraction for tourists. Here one can clearly see the city's wealth in running water as well as much of the more recent history of Drama. Water springs up from various points forming small lakes and waterfalls under the shade of ancient trees. In some places the water creates impressive sounds, in others it flows calmly and quietly as it branches out and covers the whole park. This is an idyllic location with exceptional colours in all seasons and it is a place which has always moved both travellers and visitors to the city as well as residents.

One can see traditional watermills here and multi-storey tobacco storehouses from the inter-war years reflected in the calm waters and in the depths of the lake are the remains of an Orthodox church. The Mill of Zonke stands out from all the other mills, which are located at the south side of the park, it being an old Muslim mill with the grinding area above the underground movement mechanism and the storage area on the ground floor being well-preserved. Next to the mill, too, stands the two-floor miller's residence which has survived in good condition. On the north side of the park lies a multi-storey tobacco storehouse once owned by the Swiss-Jewish tobacco merchant Herman Spier which dates from 1925 and which recalls the golden age of the city when hundreds of workers filled the halls of the tobacco factories and produced tobacco of the highest quality. Exactly in front of it are the ruins of the Joseph Faratzis tobacco storehouse where the Jews from Drama were imprisoned in 1943 before their tragic end in the Polish concentration camps. A monument in their honour stands in the centre of the park. Around this monument are houses from past times which have been declared national monuments, the most important of these being the mansion of the tobacco merchant Anastasiadis, dating from 1876, which is dressed on the outside with local marble.

Today many visitors come to the area from spring to autumn and at all times of the day in order to relax, to enjoy themselves, to have a drink or something to eat in one of the taverns. There is even entertainment to be had in the open air theatre and the "Melina" art gallery located in the Municipal Cultural Centre. A special day in the park is the eve of the feast day of the city's patron saint, Ayia Barbara, held on 3rd December, when hundreds of children leave small boats lit up on the calm waters of the lake, in front of the church bearing the saint's name, providing those present with a wonderful sight in the twilight.

Appendix A: Notes on countries

Afghanistan

Last checked: 4th May 2021

Currently we do not cover many languages used in Afghanistan, especially Pashto. Thus, this is at best only a provisional investigation regarding the country.

We have found five English language media in Afghanistan: Afghanistan Times Daily, Daily Outlook Afghanistan, Kabul Times, Khaama Press, and Pajhwok Afghan News. The three are newspapers and the last two news agencies.

Based on these media, we can say there is minimal coverage of Poland in Afghanistan media. There is no obvious focus but coverage of Polish troops in Afghanistan is the most common so far recognised. The Holocaust also has limited coverage.

Overall, the coverage of Poland Poles seems fair. Without a full investigations it can't be said for sure but no major camp issues have been founded in English language media in Afghanistan.

Known concerns:

Albania

Last checked: 5th May 2021

We have found four English language media in Albania: Albanian Daily News and Tirana Times are newspapers; Gazette is unknown and there is also the Albanian Telegraphic Agency.

Additionally, we checked eight Albanian media in Albania, all of which were newspapers: Gazeta Shqip, Koha Jonë, Panorama (Albania), Shekulli, Shqiptare, Sot, Tema, and Zëri i Popullit. We ignored sports newspapers.

The Holocaust mostly appears in Albanian English language in relation to the remembrance especially with references to Albanian aid to Jews during World War Two.

Overall, the coverage of Poland Poles seems fair. A fuller investigation could be done but no currently major camp issues have been founded in English language media in Albanian.

Austria

Polish Nationals in Austria: 62,187

With both countries being in central Europe means Poland and Austria have a long relationship. Both were powerful countries especially during the Polish–Lithuanian Commonwealth and Austria's Habsburg Monarchy era. The most serious issue between the two countries was the Austria's participation in the partitions of Poland<sup>i ii iii</sup> toward the end of the 18th century.

The Austrian government during the Partitions era saw no need to make concessions to Poles in their empire. There were attempts to regain independents. A number of revolts especially in 1846 and 1848-1849 generally set these back. The Austrian position only changed due to World War I. Still there was one major difference between the Austrian partition and the others in that they tolerated the usage of the Polish language.

Apart from the partition era, there is the issue of the contribution of Austrians during WWII to Polish persecution.

Azerbaijan

Polish Nationals in Azerbaijan: Unknown (2,000+)

It is said that there is a long history of ethnic Poles being in Azerbaijan. Perhaps the first were Polish prisoners of the Tatars. The first major influx was Poles forced to fight for Russia in the 19th century. 1813 saw 10,000 Poles sent there for fighting against Russia. More were exiled there after the 1831 and 1863 uprising against Russian rule. With the Soviet takeover of Azerbaijan, ethnic Poles general returned to Poland. Polish organizations were forbidden and Poles forced to change nationality. The Polish embassy opened in Azerbaijan in 2001 with the Azerbaijani Embassy in Poland in 2004.

Belarus

Polish Nationals in Belarus: 413,000 (300,000 to 700,000)<sup>xii</sup>

During the years prior to World War Two, over 100 thousand Poles were murdered. Whilst Belarus was part of the Soviet Union there was decades of indoctrination. Since the fall of Soviet Union, the attitude of new authorities to the Polish minority has been inconsistent but generally negative.

The current President of Belarus, Alyaksandr Lukashenka, is considered a dictator<sup>xiii</sup>. He has turned the Poles into a target for his intolerance of dissent and alleged outside interference<sup>xiv</sup>.

In 2010, a dispute started when Minsk sanctioned the arrest of ethnic Polish activists and also evicted Polish groups from their buildings including the arrest of more than 30 activists from the Union of Poles in Belarus.

Denmark

Polish Nationals in Denmark: 38,000<sup>xxxviii</sup> to 40,000<sup>xxxix</sup>

Denmark like many countries is not without anti-Polish sentiment. Poles are accused of stealing jobs and Danish women<sup>xi</sup>. There are also the usual claims about Polish anti-Semitism and drunks<sup>xli</sup>. There are strange ones such as Poles don't smile or speak foreign languages<sup>xlii</sup>. In 2014 the Polish ambassador noted the negative views of Poles<sup>xliii</sup>. It is said that Denmark in 2018 was suffering due to Poles going home<sup>xliv</sup>.

Polish-Danish history

1970 to 1990 Racism towards Poles was fairly widespread in these decades<sup>xlv</sup>
